

Ed's Comments

What a lovely month for weather April was and how lovely All Saints church looked after those 'flower ladies' had woven their magic. Steve Jackson's Commemorative Museum and Lumless House with its themed gardens formed part of a special weekend.

On the subject of special events, there is a BBQ at Margaret Thornhill's house on June the 25th so fingers crossed for good weather. Margaret has now lived in Winthorpe for over 50 years and would like to know who else has lived here as long or longer. She would very much like our 'golden residents' to visit her at the barbeque so please identify yourselves either by ringing her on 703577 or let me know and I will pass it on to her. I believe that a large Pimm's may be taken in celebration!!

April saw the end of Peter Foden's long stint as secretary of the Community Centre; such dedication will be hard to follow. On behalf of you all, a big thank you Peter for doing such a superb job.

I particularly liked his 'retirement' gift of binoculars; these will enable him to keep his eye on things from a distance!

Good luck to Sue Jackson as the new secretary.

There is public meeting on the 26th of this month to discuss this year's 'Summer Festival', so if you would like to participate or just find out what is being planned, the committee would love to see you.

Margaret and John Hewitt have announced that they are to leave the village and move down to Essex; Margaret provided us with the news from the WI for many years. We wish them much happiness.

Closing date for the June issue is 20th May.

TUESDAY CLUB

Tuesday, May 10th - Outing to Belton House gardens.

The coach will pick up at the Green and Post Office at 10am. We will have a coffee stop at Downtown before going on to Belton for lunch and a look round the gardens. GARDEN CLUB

Our A.G.M. and plant sale was attended by 45 members with several others sending apologies for absence due to holidays. This is surely a reflection of the continuing popularity of our meetings. The plant sale realised some £37 for club funds.

Officers and committee members were thanked by the chairman and all were subsequently re-elected. Pat Finn was singled out for special thanks in recognition of the extra work he had undertaken during the year.

We noted with sadness the death of Pip Burton who for several years had been responsible for cajoling members to buy raffle tickets and always had questions for our speakers.

The year ahead sees speakers delivering talks on a variety of subjects, starting on –

May 18th when a representative from Pottertons Nursery will give a Presentation, Quiz & Plant Sale.

Before the start of the meeting proper, from 7.10pm, representatives from Hollybeck Nurseries will be on hand to sign up members interested in their loyalty/discount scheme.

WINTHORPE & DISTRICT W.I. REPORT FOR APRIL

April is our birthday month so everyone looks forward to this meeting.

Mrs Pat Nelson welcomed everyone; there were only two guests who came from Collingham Institute, the other Institutes who had been invited did not arrive.

As our entertainment was a young lady from AJ's Dance in Newark, we met in the Community Centre because there was more room for our members to join in with the dancing (after instruction).

In the afternoon members of the committee had been busy preparing the room. Some of their husbands came along to set out tables and chairs and we are very grateful to them for their time and effort, also to others who came along at the end of the evening to clear away the tables and chairs. Well done chaps!

As some of you may have heard! April this year is also the month of the Royal Wedding. Our theme therefore was red, white and blue. Balloons and flags adorned the walls, while the tables were white with red and blue napkins. The committee had provided ham and a cheeseboard and a whole salmon, which member Mrs Dianne Kitson had poached and dressed for us.

Members had brought salads of all kinds and also some savoury dishes and lots of delicious desserts. As usual with our parties, the wine flowed. Mrs Isobel Chipperfield lit the candle of Friendship. She explained that this is a tradition in our Institute at all of our Birthday parties, no-one knew when it had begun, but it was sending greetings to those present and to all past friends who couldn't be with us.

After we had eaten, Toni from AJ's demonstrated the Salsa and several members joined in, the others enjoying the music.

There was a raffle which committee members had provided.

After the raffle had been drawn, Mrs. Sheila Palmer presented everyone with a small box containing chocolates.

Our special guests were each presented with an Easter Egg.

Instead of the traditional Birthday cake we had a pyramid of cup-cakes in the colours of our theme and these were handed around among members and guests, everyone agreed that it was a wonderful party.

Our next meeting is May 12th when Mrs Ellie Briggs will be going through the Resolutions with us. These will be voted on and the results taken to the A.G.M.in Liverpool on June the 8th.

Hostesses are Mesdames V.Seager, J.Lord and B.Moran.

GIANT SUNFLOWER COMPETITION

Your sunflowers will now be germinating and will have a pair of leaves.

They take about seven to ten days to germinate. How many days did it take your seeds to germinate?

Using a plastic tie, loosely fasten your plants to a small split cane. If the plants are on a windowsill they will bend towards the window. To keep them straight, half turn the pots every day.

To prevent giving the plants a shock treatment going from a warm house into a cold garden they will require hardening off. When they are about 15cm high, put them outside for two days against the wall of the house.

Prepare a sunny spot in the garden for your sunflower by digging in some compost. This will hold moisture and is beneficial to the plant. Before the end of the month, plant your sunflowers into the garden.

Try and plant one into your front garden. This will make passers-by smile when in the summer they see its giant yellow face.

Do not forget to put in a tall stake to support each plant.

Did You Know?

The sunflower (Helianthus annuus) is a fascinating plant for children to grow.

Sunflowers can grow up to 4mtrs (14ft) high with a head diameter of up to 30cm (1ft).

- The head of the sunflower, often erroneously referred to as a flower, consists of 1000 - 2000 individual flowers. These are called florets. The petals surrounding the head are ray flowers.
- Sunflowers are one of the fastest growing plants in the world, growing up to 30cm (1ft) per day.

WINTHORPE CRICKET CLUB

Firstly apologies to those of you who read the Cricket Club reports and updates as I have been very tardy in my updates recently having missed deadlines for submission hopefully not this month!

Firstly on the playing front, as you will have read that last season was not been one of our greatest and unfortunately circumstances transpired that we were relegated prior to playing our last game. Following some restructuring of the League this year we find ourselves playing in Division 3 of the McKinnells Sunday League which comprises some teams from the division we played in last season and some from the division below which should mean more closely fought, competitive games than perhaps last year. Fixtures for the early part of the season are included at the end of this report.

The Club would like to take this opportunity to thank you all again for your continuing support over the year both via the newly re-invigorated Bonus Ball and the support we received on Duck Day. The Club would also like to thank Scott and Caroline for their continued support and the warm welcome they have given us and not to mention the excellent teas they have provided last season, teas for the forthcoming season and also for the venue and excellent food at our presentation dinner. This year the main awards went to a mix of old and new. Topping the batting averages was the experienced Max Cope back after a season long absence, the bowling award and most improved player went to Dan Marshall, with James Bailey receiving the best fielder both “less seasoned” campaigners than some us!

This year has been a testing one for the club however despite the ongoing difficulties such as the theft of electrical cables, which you may recall from an earlier Focal point, it is not all doom and gloom. Revenue from Duck Day was up on previous years and as you will know the Bonus Ball has been resurrected with the first draw having taken place on the 6th November. This is extremely pleasing as it makes a significant contribution to our funds over the course of the year and is in fact one of the reasons the Club continues to survive. The loss of this and our groundsman last year had significant financial impact on the Club details of which I spoke about recently at the Village Meeting at the Community Centre. It is therefore with great relief that we can now thank all of you who are supporting the Club through the newly revived Bonus Ball. This should put us back on a more even keel for the forthcoming year. Payments for the Bonus Ball can be either via the tried and tested jar located at the Lord Nelson, via myself at the Dial House or even via standing order.

The AGM was finally held in February with all of the previous committee members being re-elected and most pleasingly Vincent Dobson agreed to continue in the role of President so thanks to him and also to Maureen for her ongoing support.

Some of you will have noticed some ongoing activity at the ground over recent weeks. This has largely been preparation works on the pavilion to prepare it for the new season. Additionally there is now an all weather practice net providing the ground with added practice facility so you will no doubt notice even greater activity at the ground over the summer evenings with well seasoned and budding cricketers alike honing their skills ready for the weekend games. Net sessions will no doubt be held on an ad-hoc basis however if anyone, whether young or old are interested in joining in please do not hesitate to contact me. Also please bear in mind that Coddington our playing partners at the ground run practice sessions for juniors of all ages and are always looking for new members.

Duck Race Day

It is approaching that time of year again so look out for the posters advertising Duck Race Day that will be appearing shortly. This year race day is planned for the late May Bank Holiday as we couldn't really compete with the grandeur of a Royal event in the popularity stakes. Hopefully the weather will be kind and that we can attract as many people as last year as it was a great success and a very enjoyable day. The usual events are planned and who knows we may even try to add to them if anyone can come up with a bright idea. Please pass the word around with friends work colleagues as the more the merrier.

Dog Fouling

Along with the parish Council we have received complaints regarding dog mess on the cricket field. The instances appear to have increased over the last few months which is somewhat disappointing. What is more disappointing is that owners are allowing their dogs onto the playing square which is a problem form not only a fouling point of view but also that damage is being done to the playing surface. The constant maintenance of the square is the biggest financial burden on the Club so we can ill afford the additional cost bough about by damage. Not only that it is not pleasant having to clear the field and square prior to playing or carrying out routine maintenance. The cricket field and surrounding areas are a very pleasant environment for walking and exercising your dogs please take care of it and use the bins provided to dispose of any mess. I appreciate that the majority of people exercising their dogs are responsible dog owners so perhaps when you are down there you could help to educate the minority of irresponsible ones.

Wellow Maypole is back!

As many of you may know, the maypole at Wellow had to be taken down last November due to corrosion problems. The good news is that a brand new maypole now stands proudly on the village green, thanks mainly to the many well wishers who donated so generously to save this precious piece of local heritage.

Wellow Maypole Celebrations will therefore have extra significance this year when they take place on Spring Bank Holiday Monday May 30th. The May Queen for 2011, Eleanore Leigh, has been elected and the children have started practising their dancing for the big day.

As well as Morris dancing, traditional Punch and Judy, games, rides, crafts, stalls and refreshments, there will be displays of dog agility on the maypole green. The festivities start at 12 noon and continue throughout the afternoon until 5pm.

As one of the biggest one day village festivals in the county, it is an event not to be missed. Bring your family, have a wonderful day out and be part of a unique Nottinghamshire tradition!

RSPB Langford Lowfields Update

It's been a couple of weeks of new arrivals as we move into spring and the spring migrants are making their way back to our shores. In the last two weeks we have recorded the following species back on site – little ringed plover, sand martin, swallow, chiffchaff, willow warbler, sedge warbler, blackcap and yellow wagtail. It won't be long now either before we are seeing and hearing plenty more spring migrants and some species to look out for include cuckoo, hobby, common tern, reed warbler, whitethroat, lesser whitethroat and garden warbler. We never cease to be amazed by migration and love to see these birds returning after a long, cold winter.

Insects are also a common sight now on warmer days with 10 butterfly species recorded so far orange tip, speckled wood, brimstone, small tortoiseshell, peacock and comma, large white, green vien white, small white and painted lady.

We also a spectacular day flying long horn moth called adela reamurella swarming on the edge of the woodland. These moths are only about 1cm in size but have antennae of 2cm and beautiful metallic looking wings and are quite mesmerising to watch.

We have started the bird and invertebrate surveys on the reserve, this enables us to monitor what species we have on site and their numbers. This is important as it helps us determine whether our habitat management is attracting the priority species for the reserve.

The viewing screen accessible from the footpath has been rebuilt, and will soon provide interpretation about the site and what to look out for, as well as a great place to view the spring wildlife on the reserve.

Finally, look out for us at the Newark Show on the 14th & 15th of May and learn more about the reserve, wildlife, the RSPB and how you can be involved.

Navigating the Trent

A few months ago Lynne wrote about our travels down the River Trent from Nottingham to Newark on our way 'home'. This, of course, is not our only experience of the river since the boat was first launched in Newark in April 2005.

Our very first trip with the boat was down the Trent to Lincoln via Torksey and the Fossdyke. This was done with a certain amount of trepidation, firstly because of our unfamiliarity with the boat and, secondly, because below Cromwell Weir the river is tidal.

Going on the tidal river requires some planning for a variety of reasons; our boat has quite a small engine so we can only 'go with the flow'. The lock keepers down the Trent at Cromwell, Torksey, West Stockwith and Keadby are experts on the ways of the river and will help with times and plans, but it is advisable to consult available river charts and tide tables which give excellent guidance on transit times and enable some understanding on how the river works to be gained.

The essential features of a transit plan are to get onto the river when it is flowing in the right direction, such as on the ebb at Cromwell, at a time such as you arrive at your destination when the river is in the right conditions for you to get off. If the river is too low you might not be able to get to the lock and if it is flowing too fast you might be swept past. Knowing how long your journey will take is important and this requires some knowledge of the current speed which varies with the state of the tide and the location in the river.

Going down the river to Torksey and returning to Cromwell is relatively straightforward as the transit time is about four hours, the tide ebbs (flows down to the sea) for about eight hours and the entrance to Torksey lock is in a spur off the main river, enabling boats to wait safely on the mooring pontoons until the lock is available for use. Even so, problems can arise, as we have experienced.

On our first trip to Torksey we encountered strong northerly winds, by Dunham Bridge is a long straight section where the winds whipped up large rolling waves coming up the river which caused the boat to pitch up and down, with spray coming right over the boat into the cockpit; this is not what canal boats are designed for!

On another occasion we planned an evening trip from Torksey to Cromwell. Because the lock keeper spent a lot of time locking boats up off the river we were rather late catching the tide up. Our problem was compounded by the neap tide, with a small rise in the river levels resulting with slower tidal currents. By the time we were passing Carlton on Trent the tide had turned and we were fighting the flow and travelling slowly. We reached Collingham in the dark, fortunately we have navigation light and a marine radio and the lock keeper at Cromwell was able to check up on us, allowing us to lock in at ten thirty, well after the end of his shift; we were very grateful to him.

The Trent is a very important link in the navigation system in England. It is the only route in the east between the canals in the midlands and south and the Yorkshire canals, such as the Aire and Calder to Leeds, Sheffield, Chesterfield, York etc. The only other route is via Cheshire and the Pennine canals. For us to get to these places requires going further north on the Trent to West Stockwith for the Chesterfield and Keadby for the Stainforth Canal into Yorkshire. Very brave souls can travel all the way down to Trent Mouth for the Humber to the Derwent, Goole, the River Ancholme and even Hull.

The lock entrances at West Stockwith and Keadby present boaters with rather different problems as they open directly onto the river in the same manner as my house drive opens directly onto the road. Turning in would be easy if the river was still when you got there, but you never can. At low tide when the flow changes from down river to up, the river level is too low for the lock to be accessed. At high tide, when the situation is reversed the river will have been flowing up for four to six hours, meaning very slow, if any, progress down the river for any boat not having powerful engines.

For a canal boat the only plan is to travel down river with the ebb, arriving at Keadby not later than two hours after the high tide. On arriving the boat has to be turned to face up river, using engine power match the flow, keeping a position stationary relative to the lock entrance. Fortunately the river here is very wide, enabling an easy turn. Turning the boat slightly towards the lock will then allow the current to sweep the boat slowly towards the bank, a manoeuvre known as a 'ferry glide'. When the boat is close to the lock entrance the boat has to be turned in; this is the tricky bit as the more the boat faces across the current the faster it is being swept down river. Indeed when the boat is at right angles to the flow, heading into the lock, the river will sweep you past within seconds. At this point experience and/or nerve are required to open the throttle and turn sharply in, judging that the current will bring the bow of the boat alongside the lock entrance just when it is entering. After that it is just a matter of stopping quickly, since you are travelling quite fast, before ramming the back of the lock or any other boat in the lock. All told an exciting manoeuvre.

So far we have done these things successfully and have been rewarded with wonderful trips on the river, which becomes more and more majestic the closer to the Humber you get, -- As yet we have not encountered the Aegir!

Church Notices

At the time of writing this note we are very much looking forward to the Easter Weekend. Steve Jackson has worked extremely hard to present his large garden, in its varied and extremely interesting areas, to their best advantage. We are very grateful to him for his interest and ideas which enhanced the church Flower Festival.

Sylvia Lloyd and all the flower ladies demonstrated their expertise and skill in their flower arrangements. As much thought and work went into this weekend we hope that there were many visitors.

Our weekend concluded with Choral Evensong.

Many of the village supported the Thanksgiving Service for the life of Ivy (Pip) Burton. Her family took an active part in the service and David Milner who took the service remarked "Pip was a character". It was good to see Margaret Hewitt out and about again and we were pleased that John was home.

Just a reminder that on June 25th we are holding a Village Bar-B-Q in Mrs Margaret Thornhill's garden which is a beautiful venue. Tickets will be available early June.

Margaret, who has lived in Winthorpe for fifty years, would like to celebrate by giving everyone a glass of Pimm's at the start of the evening. She would also like to know of anyone else who has resided here since 1961 or even longer.

We send our best wishes to those who are unwell or in hospital at this time remembering Norma & Kenneth Breed.
